Try To Orbit 5 Satellites Fails

Rocket's Second Stage Malfunctions

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Rocket failure today ruined an attempt to boost five satellites into orbit simultaneously to probe a number of space mysteries.

The space quintuplets hurtled into the sky at 4:30 a.m. cradled snugly in the nose of an 80-foot Thor-Able-Star rocket. The first stage of the 55-ton rocket performed normally and observers at the Cape saw the second stage ignite.

But 20 minutes after launch the Defense Department announced the upper stage failed to build up sufficient thrust after ignition and the entire rocket assembly plunged in the Atlantic Ocean far downrange.

Officials said the $3.5-million vehicle fell into the sea "well south of Cuba."

The failure wrecked the United States' most ambitious multiple payload experiment to date. Attempts have been made previously to send three satellites aloft with one booster, but never as many as five.

The five satellites were to have been sprayed into orbit by spring devices much like the pellets from a shotgun charge. Because of this, project officials nicknamed the project "Buckshot."

This was to have been the first of three major U.S. space efforts scheduled this week. On Friday, an Atlas-Agena rocket is slated to hurl a Ranger 3 payload to the moon to take closeup television pictures and land an instrument package on the lunar surface.

The attempt to orbit astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. is set for Saturday.

House Okays Increase In Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has tentatively approved a bill raising postage a penny per letter and increasing "junk mail" rates. Final action is expected today.

The House added $79.2 million to a rate increase bill worked out by the Kennedy administration and House Democratic leaders, producing a measure that would bring in $700 million if accepted by the Senate. There is some doubt on that score, however.

The bill raises first class and air mail rates by a penny, to 5 and 8 cents, for a total increase in those categories of $455 million. It also calls for $53 million more in the rates paid by newspapers and magazines, $171 million more in third-class rates—those used mostly by direct mail advertisers—and about $20 million more in miscellaneous increases.

Ruritans Elect Lower As National President

Floyd Lower, 68, of 373 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon, Columbiana County farm agent, was elected president of Ruritan National at its annual convention at Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday.

Lower served as vice president in 1961 and as a member of the national board of directors in Latin Allies Say: Cuba, Si! Castro, Non!

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Latin America's two most powerful nations joined today in a common front proposing hemispheric coexistence with Cuba while condemning Prime Minister Fidel Castro for embracing communism.

The agreement between Argentina and Brazil, who have led rival blocs at the inter-American foreign ministers conference, came in the early morning hours in advance of the conference's first full-dress public debate.

Argentina and Brazil pushed ahead with a compromise proposal to bar Fidel Castro's government from a voice in deliberations of the Organization of American States on the ground that the revolutionary regime does not represent the Cuban people. The door would be left open for Cuba to return to the hemispheric fold should Castro change his ways or should an anti-Communist government emerge in Cuba.

Isolation from the OAS is a penalty far milder than the diplomatic and economic sanctions President Kennedy's team had hoped for when it came to the Inter-American foreign ministers' meeting. Despite fears of congressional anger that would produce opposition to Alliance for Progress appropriations, the U.S. delegation could do little in the face of the opposition from Brazil, Mexico, Argentina and Chile to stiff penalties.

A joint proposal to isolate the Castro government from OAS activities was reported worked out early today after a three-hour conference of the foreign under-secretaries of Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Ecuador, Bolivia and Haiti, a group which has come to be known here as the "outer seven."

The proposal was to be submitted today to the seven nations' foreign ministers and then to the Central American delegations for their concurrence before its introduction before the conference.

A Chilean spokesman reported all differences within the outer seven had been resolved but declined to give details. It was understood the proposal would draw a difference between the Cuban government and Cuba as a nation because Brazil and some other nations contend Cuba is still geographically in the American family and cannot be read out of the organization.

Few if any delegates looked for any change in Cuban policies as

Senate Extends Censor Probe

General Trudeau Gives Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate group investigating muzzling charges against the Pentagon questions today one of the officers whose anti-Communist speeches were censored, Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau.

Censoring of Trudeau's speeches by the Defense Department was one of the main examples cited by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., in forcing the investigation by a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Thurmond complained of 10 instances in which, he said, anti-Communist statements had been stricken from speeches by the military to public groups. He didn't say who made the speeches.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said later that all 10 had been cut from speech texts written by Trudeau. The secretary added that Trudeau had made 54 speeches in the year.

Trudeau will be followed on the witness stand by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

A letter from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suggesting a change in the policy on the censoring of speeches was inserted in the record as the hearings began Tuesday.

"I question the desirability of requiring the topmost government officials, whether military or civilian, to submit to censorship of content—as distinguished from security matters—prior to their utterance," Eisenhower said.

This was done under his and preceding administrations, but added that after thoughtful reconsideration, "I incline to the view that when responsible and respected officials feel compelled to submit to censorship, we are smothering the concept of personal responsibility under the practice of heavy-handed and unjustified staff supervision."

But he also said there must be a "rule of reason" in applying policies. Retired Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, former chief of naval operations, warned against "too much emphasis" on censorship of military men's speeches.

Thurmond argues that this censorship is muzzling and hampers officers in efforts to inform their troops and the public on communism.

McNamara maintains it is not muzzling. He says the editing of speeches was designed to keep military spokesmen's public views in line with national policy.

Real Estate Taxes Due By March 7

LISBON — Over 25,000 notices will be mailed out by Friday for over 43,000 parcels of real estate for the first-half collection of 1961 taxes, according to Columbiana County Treasurer Vincent C. Judge.

All tax statements will carry a closing date of March 7. A penalty will be enforced after that date, the treasurer warned.

The full year's taxes have been estimated at $5,474,765—with a delinquent listing of $371,775.

City Reservoir May Be Opened For Fishing

Council Committee May Recommend Action Monday

An ordinance opening Salem City Lake to controlled fishing is expected to be recommended by the water and water works committee of City Council when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at City Hall.

Harold Astry (D. 3rd Ward) is chairman of the committee which also includes Ralph Zimmerman (R. 3rd Ward) and Fred Koenreich (D. at-large).

They will meet Monday with Aubrey Hayes, superintendent of utilities, to decide whether or not to recommend to City Council that the 68-acre lake south of the city be opened to the public as a recreational area, as urged by local sportsmen.

Efforts to open the lake in past years have failed. Such a measure has never gotten out of the committee stage.

The lake, which is the city reservoir, has as its primary purpose to supply Salem with water. With this in mind, some councilmen have been reluctant to open it for recreational purposes.

OK With Superintendent

However, since the utilities superintendent has come out in favor of a controlled recreational program at the lake, councilmen have indicated a willingness to go along. Hayes has said there is no danger of contaminating the water supply if a recreational program is properly controlled.

If sportsmen abuse the privilege, the lake could be closed to the public again, the utilities superintendent has pointed out. If the ordinance recommended by Hayes is approved by Council, the City Lake area would provide facilities for picnicking, boating and fishing.

The area would be policed by deputies in the utilities department. Receipts from fishing and boating permits would help support the recreational program.

The ordinance is expected to reach Council floor at one of the two regular sessions scheduled in February.

Also at its meeting Monday night, the water and water works committee will discuss the possibility of extending sanitary sewers to the Hillsdale area in the south end of the city.

Congo Troops, U.N. Officials Go to Kongola

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Loyal Congolese government troops and a team of U.N. administrators have been flown to the north Katanga town of Kongola, where troops on New Year's Day massacred 9 white Roman Catholic priests.

The contingent of 160 Congolese troops radioed that the Kongola airport was safe for the arrival of Gen. Victor Lundula, the Congo army's eastern commander, who was to fly there today with two Red Cross representatives.

The first message gave no details of the situation in the town, but it was believed the troops who shot the priests before a crowd of terrified schoolchildren had pulled out of the town.

U.N. aerial reconnaissance over the area has revealed troop movements along the road leading out of Kongola, including to Solia, where they are believed to have overrun another Roman Catholic mission.

American, Eastern Airlines To Merge

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines will combine into the nation's biggest system if stockholder and government approval is forthcoming.

They announced plans Tuesday to merge.

The consolidated line would be called American Airlines, erasing the name of the pioneer Eastern Air Lines from the roster of American carriers.

The proposal to create a system with $900 million in assets, 39,000 employees and 400 aircraft will be submitted to stockholders of both companies and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The board, which has generally encouraged mergers, had no immediate comment.

There was no mention in the announcement of Eddie Rickenbacker, 71, famed World War I air ace who is chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee of Eastern.

An Eastern Air Lines spokesman said only that Rickenbacker would continue to hold those posts as long as Eastern remained an entity.

The merger would be another step in the quickening scramble to tie together competing transportation lines in an effort to pull out of a financial morass.

United Air Lines and heavily-indebted Capital Airlines merged last May, making United the biggest of the domestic carriers. On the rail front, the New York Central and Pennsylvania systems agreed last week to merge. Other proposed combinations are being pushed.

The 11 trunk air carriers lost an aggregate of about $30 million in 1961. Eastern went deeply in the red while American earned $6.8 million.

Soviet Chief Says Reds Can Blast U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky asserted today Soviet rockets could blast all U.S. "industrial and administrative-political centers" into the heavens in a single blow. He also called for better U.S.-Soviet relations.

Malinovsky couched hard words with soft in an interview with the Communist party paper Pravda in which he sharply assailed U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Malinovsky said McNamara's declaration before the Senate Armed Services Committee that the United States is capable of destroying selected Soviet targets was boastful and was "directed not at the improvement of relations between the Soviet Union and the United States, but at inciting passions of war hysteria, and in the final analysis stepping up the arms race. And the arms race has always been the road

Aldom Voices Objection At Council Parley

Restrictions Due On 14 Streets; Ordinance Planned

By a narrow 2-1 margin, City Council's traffic and safety committee voted last night to recommend passage of a controversial ordinance which would prohibit parking on sections of 14 streets throughout the city.

An ordinance which would ban parking on two other streets, Ohio Ave. and Woodland Ave., was tabled for further discussion by the committee. This is the proposed measure which has been strongly opposed by St. Paul Church.

The ordinance prohibiting parking on sections of 14 streets will be presented to Council for a first reading at the next regular meeting Feb. 6.

Visitors Are Heard

Prior to the traffic and safety committee meeting last night, Council met as a "committee of the whole" to go over the two parking ban ordinances street by street. Five visitors were also on hand to state their objections and agreement on certain sections of the ordinances.

Leading the opposition to the proposed parking ban ordinances was Aldom whose vote last week in Council prevented the measures from receiving a first reading. Aldom said several provisions of the ordinances were advantageous to outsiders at the expense of Salem residents.

"I'm quite sure these ordinances will be extensively amended," Aldom remarked at the last meeting.

Aldom attempted to have several of the sections changed last night, but Council as a whole gave tentative approval to only two minor changes among the 16 streets affected by the two ordinances.

One of the changes involves Ohio Ave. Previously, the ordinance read that parking would be prohibited on the west side of Ohio Ave. from E. State St. to Maple St., except during regular church hours on Sundays. The change tentatively approved last night would prohibit parking on the east side of Ohio Ave. instead of the west side.

Representatives of St. Paul Church had said they preferred that parking not be taken from either side of Ohio Ave., but if it had to come off one side they recommended the east side. They say that an already serious parking problem around the church will be made worse if parking is banned on Ohio Ave.

The other changes approved last night affect Penn Ave. Where the ordinance did read that parking would be prohibited on the west side of Penn St. from E. State St. to Columbia St., it was changed to the west side of Penn from E. Pershing St. to Columbia St.

Sees No Urgency

Councilman Aldom said last night that he is opposed to the parking ban ordinances because he hasn't seen any "crying need" for such legislation.

"If this legislation is needed so badly why isn't the safety director, the police chief or the fire chief up here fighting for it," Aldom asked. "If parking on these streets constitutes a hazardous condition, I want to hear them say so."

"I'm no expert on traffic and safety," Aldom continued, "but

Tells Senate Subcommittee

Ex-Defense Head Says Nation Talks Too Much

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — This week Robert A. Lovett, defense secretary under President Truman, said he feels that "as a government we talk too much (and) give the impression of being unbuttoned."

He told this to a Senate subcommittee which began hearings Tuesday on whether military men are permitted to talk enough. The hearings will go on for weeks, probably get overheated, and will take three directions:

(1) Censorship of speeches by military officers, before civilian groups; (2) teaching or educating troops about communism; and (3) participation by military men in seminars and public meetings.

All three questions come down to this: How much freedom shall military officers have to speak on matters not directly connected with their military duties?

President Kennedy's administration—like President Eisenhower's before it—has a policy which insists speeches military or other government officials give on national security matters be in line with White House views and the American foreign policy.

The investigation is the result of charges by Sen. Strom Thurmond, a major general in the Army Reserve and a South Carolina Democrat, that the Pentagon "muzzled" anti-Communist talks by military men.

He said the muzzling was done on orders "direct from Moscow." He wouldn't elaborate on that one.

Two former high-ranking officers are most frequently mentioned in discussion of this case: Adm. Arleigh Burke, former chief of naval operations, and Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, former commander of the 24th Army Division in West Germany.

When Kennedy took office last year Moscow decided to release two American fliers held prisoners for 18 months after their plane had been shot down in the Barents Sea off northern Russia.

The Kennedy administration and Moscow consulted in some form on this release because on Jan. 25 Kennedy and the Russians issued simultaneous statements on it. That was five days after Kennedy took office.

About that time a speech by Burke was censored, Kennedy explained later that no one in this country knew at the time whether the fliers would be released.

The President said: "Therefore, there is some value in coordinating statements made by high-ranking responsible officials. It is the policy which must be followed by this administration."

Walker's case was different. He lectured his troops in Germany on anti-communism and a publication, Overseas Weekly, said he also described "as definitely pink" Truman, Dean Acheson, former Secretary of state, and others.

The Army investigated and reprimanded him, according to Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr., "for taking injudicious actions and making derogatory statements about prominent Americans."

The Army record showed he refused to answer—taking the equivalent of the 5th Amendment—when asked if he acted contrary to military regulations by advising his men on American political matters.

Walker, relieved of his command, quit the Army, began making speeches, and last week announced he has become "the symbol of patriotism for this country."

Thurmond said later he didn't know all the facts in the case but still didn't think Walker should have been bounced. At the same time he said officers should stay out of partisan politics.

Everybody seems agreed that military men must be subordinate to the civilian leaders of the government. The dispute is over how much they should be allowed to say.

General Eisenhower issued a long statement Tuesday which went around and around but did say "let our informed military speak, always under properly established policies and the general—not petty—supervision of their civilian superiors."

But, since it's this very degree of supervision which is under investigation, Eisenhower didn't solve anything.

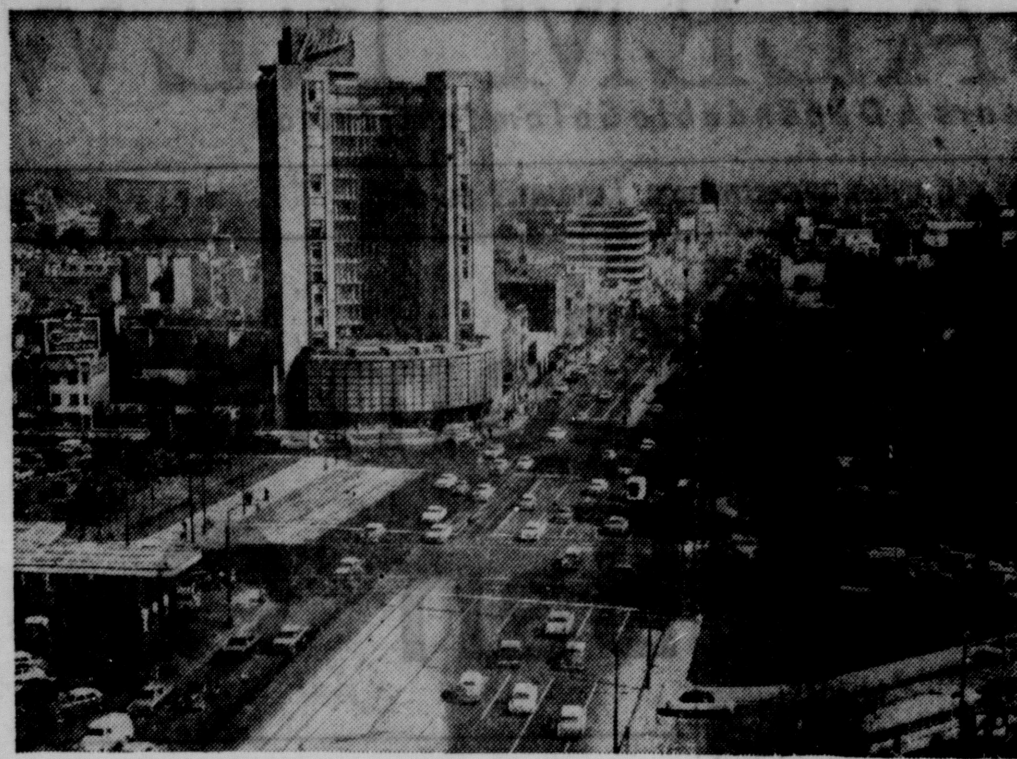

Kennedy said last year he knows of 65 efforts by Eisenhower's administration "to make sure that speeches by members of the military were in accordance with the general objectives of American foreign policy."

Washingtonville Firemen '61 Activities Are Reviewed

WASHINGTONVILLE — Washingtonville volunteer firemen devoted 5,758 hours to activities connected with the department during 1961, the annual report released by Fire Chief George Boston reveals.

Included in the resume were: 1061 firemen's meetings and training sessions, 2,340 hours; out of town meetings, 520; schools, 348; work on new fire station, 2,000; village council meetings, chief and firemen, 130; fire calls, 160; miscellaneous, 80; parades, 20; and festivals and other social events, 160.

Firemen answered five complaints dealing with trash burning too close to buildings and one on storage of petroleum liquids.

The single fire extinguished by firemen during the year caused $5 damage to a car.

Firemen made five inspections of public buildings and spent nine hours in flushing sewers.

The department presented Council with seven proposals which the firemen recommended be enacted into law. The ordinances would establish a modified fire prevention code and a modified building code, designate fire lanes on village streets, order numbering of houses and erection of street signs, regulate trailer homes and junk yards and authorize payment to firemen at the same rate for emergency calls as for fire investigations.

Department officers for 1962 are: Boston; Frank Stouffer, assistant fire chief; Elwood Smith, captain; Robert Boston and Glenn Caddes, lieutenants; Carl Deffenbaugh, property man; Emmett

Tater and Tuna Tempting Dish

This week as you trundle your basket along the supermarket aisles, keep an eye out for a newcomer to the frozen food cabinet. Tiny taters. This new product is one of the tastiest and most versatile of all the fine potato products that food manufacturers have developed in recent years for our pleasure and convenience. Today, however, we're considering their more mundane use in a hearty tuna and vegetable casserole, family style, with the accent on style. 2 cups seasoned medium white sauce, 1 package (9 ounces) quick-frozen whole green beans, cooked and drained, 2 cans, (7 ounces each) white meat tuna, drained and flaked 1/2 to 3/4 package quick-frozen tiny taters. Combine sauce, beans and tuna fish. Pour into a greased shallow 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Top with tiny taters. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, or until potatoes are golden brown. Makes 4 servings.

Lamb Goulash

(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

3 tablespoons corn oil, 1 1/2 pounds trimmed boneless lamb, cut into cubes, 2 cups water, 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce, 1 envelope Swiss vegetable soup mix, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup water, 1 (8-ounce) can whole grain corn, drained (1 cup) Heat oil in large deep skillet over low heat; add lamb cubes; cook, turning as needed, until browned on all sides. Add water, tomato sauce and soup mix. Cover, simmer until meat is tender, about 1 hour. Mix flour and 1/4 cup water until smooth; stir into mixture in skillet. Add corn; cook until mixture comes to a boil and thickens.

Peanut Brittle

Peanut Brittle 1 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup dark corn syrup, 1/4 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups peanuts, 2 teaspoons hot water, 1 teaspoon baking soda. In a large heavy saucepan stir together the sugar, salt, corn syrup, water and butter. Cook to soft crack stage (280 degrees on candy thermometer) or until 1 teaspoon of the mixture tested in 1 cup very cold water separates into hard but not brittle threads. Gradually stir in peanuts so mixture continues to boil. Cook, stirring often, to hard-crack stage (300 degrees) or until when tested as above, mixture separates into hard brittle threads. Remove from heat. Stir hot water into soda; beat thoroughly into brittle. Turn onto heavily buttered large cookie sheet, spread as thin as possible with spatula. Cool about 5 minutes; turn warm brittle upside down on sheet. When cold, break into irregular pieces. Makes about 1 1/4 pounds.

Old Idea In a Modern Version

Presidential stress on authority to cut federal income tax rates when the economy needs a shot in the arm is an old idea in a modern version.

The original version still dear to all of us who think public finances should be handled like our private affairs was to cut government spending when things slowed down and let taxpayers keep what was saved.

This is the kind of thinking budget balancers are capable of. Such people think income and outgo should be balanced; that if income shrinks outgo should shrink. They think that in far weather the roof should be patched; that something should be put aside for a rainy day while making hay in the sunshine; that prudence with money is one of the absolute virtues.

People who think like this are fuddy-duddies.

The modern version of cutting income tax rates when the economy needs a shot in the arm say nothing in it about a corresponding cut in government spending.

It is completely to the contrary. Spending is speeded up, not slowed down.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY is asking for authority to cut income tax rates by executive decree if business sags and for parallel authority to start expensive public works. This is the formula of the Roosevelt New Deal panacea for spending the country into prosperity.

It didn't work in the New Deal, and it won't work in the New Frontier.

The idea that the U. S. government can carry on financial practices that would bring the police and the psychiatrists hustling if its citizens tried them never has been certified for public use, John Maynard Keynes to the contrary notwithstanding.

There have been men in the federal government for years who have claimed to be above hobbling regulations on the way they handled the people's money, but they never have won a mandate to put their ideas into practice.

Yet they have the gall in 1962 to ask for congressional consent to pinch off federal income with one hand while opening the sluice gates for more federal spending. They say it would be absurd to cut back spending, because spending must go on ad infinitum while taxing is something that can be discontinued whenever the burden grows too heavy to bear.

IT APPEARS to us the minds that think this way have learned everything they need to know about public finances except the one most important thing.

Public finances depend on the people's confidence in the way their money is being handled.

When they see it handled in a way that would be reckless and foolhardy in private affairs, they get uneasy about their government.

It is too much like telling them there's a double standard of morality—one way for the American people to handle money, another way for the government. They don't believe Keynes had told them about it personally, with diagrams and footnotes.

Don't Blame Automation

As sometimes is the case with dissenting opinions, a dissenting opinion to the first report of the President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy is drawing more attention than the main report.

The opinion was written by Arthur E. Burns, president of the National Bureau of Economic Research. Commenting on the general findings on the connection between automation, unemployment insurance, unemployment, etc., Mr. Burns came to grips with the popular belief that automation is causing unemployment.

"I know of no evidence to support this view," he declares, "and I deplore anything that adds to the greatly exaggerated fears that many people have of what is loosely called automation."

This is the same view taken in a study of the American Iron and Steel Institute a few weeks ago — that automation is blamed for unemployment when the fact is unemployment must be blamed on a lagging rate of economic growth.

Both Mr. Burns and the Iron and Steel Institute stress the fact no one would be blaming automation if employment were high and unemployment had quit increasing instead of decreasing, as it should when jobs are multiplying. Automation has been made a scapegoat because it is visible and its effects are obvious, whereas the government policy of sitting on free enterprise and holding down its impulse to grow fast enough to absorb workers is not clearly understood.

"A tremendous expansion of prosperity lies within our power," declares Mr. Burns, summing up his views on automation and employment. "The degree to which we attain it will mainly depend, first, on how much work people care to do, second, on how productive they wish to be, third, on how earnestly we pursue public policies to stimulate new, creative, and more efficient economic activities by business enterprises."

The way to whittle down unemployment, in other words, is not to rant and rave against automation but against repressive acts of government and labor unions that stifle production of wealth.

Footnote On the Sports Industry

Who can help but have an opinion about the Associated Press poll that showed 109 votes favoring the idea that pro football will be ahead of pro baseball in 10 years? But there were 106 votes not favoring the idea. It was a standoff.

Baseball and football are both here to stay, in all probability. No one pays much attention to college and high school baseball today, however. What needs to be questioned is whether football is imperishable. Sports can wear themselves out.

Will there come a time when even a TV free-loader will turn off a football bowl game because he has seen one too many?

Will there come a time when professional baseball will have slowed down so far that fans in the stands will join their nonpaying brethren in the living room in light slumber?

Will the professionals take their show on the road so often they will wear it out? Will they make their seasons start too early and end too late, in pursuit of dollars that otherwise might get away from them?

Will they make their sports so routine and regulated that skeptics will wonder if having seen one game you haven't seen them all—if having seen on pitcher fussing on the mound you haven't seen the lot of them—if having seen one T-quarterback back-pedaling into the pocket to look for a downfield receiver you haven't seen everything football has to offer?

We don't know. We're just wondering. There will be no AP poll on this sensitive point, because it's too iffy. But there is reason to reject the thought that baseball and football are necessarily imperishable. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "East Lynne" once were imperishable, too, but they wore themselves out through over-exposure.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Several states, of which Connecticut is most recent, are using unmarked police cars in drive on speeders. Experiment is already causing eye strain among autoists and increasing irritability as they slow up for the WRONG CAR behind.

How experiment will work out is still anybody's guess but one sure thing is that dialogue between front and rear seat will be worth hearing.

Wife: Slowdown, Wilbur. I don't like looks of that car behind us.

Husband: I don't like the looks of five or six cars behind us. What's wrong about the one directly in rear?

Wife: Nothing; I just have a hunch. Husband: We're an hour late already on account of your hunches. (The car passes and turns out to be driven by a fireman on way to dinner.)

Wife: Here comes another. It must be a police car. It looks recently washed and there are two men in it. (It proves to be a new auto driven by a middle-aged housewife accompanied by a police dog.)

Husband: You need to change your glasses or I need to change the mirror.

Wife: Oops! Here comes one driven by a man in uniform. (It whizzes past, operated by a movie house usher.)

Husband (spotting one more car in mirror): This is it, Mabel. You can't fool me on police cars. (It passes by, driven by a plumber's helper.)

Wife: My hunches are better than your positive identifications.

Husband: Stop boasting. What's whizzing up on us now?

Wife: The driver is wearing what looks like a cop's hat.

Husband: No, it's a yachting cap. We're safe. (This is a real police car.)

Wife: You're a poor judge of yachting caps.

Husband: Okay, officer. I'll pull over. Could you give me an unmarked summons to an unidentified police court?

"... and See the World"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

PITTSBURGH A lethal legend has been wiped out by the FBI. Mob tradition was smashed the other day, when the "bureau" quite quickly solved a crime syndicate killing.

A labor leader had been murdered. Traditionally, there's a hit (an attack), a run, the escape into the night or a crowd and the hired killers can report no errors to their clients in another city.

During my trip across the brutally freezing Midwest, I learned it was different in the case of the three-month-old mystery of the slaying of John (Jack) Kilpatrick. He led a small independent union. He crusaded. He worked with the federal grand juries in Chicago.

He was shot behind the ear on Oct. 20. J. Edgar Hoover's agents soon saturated the case. The bureau men discovered that the Chicago crime combine had hired three Detroit hoods to make the "hit" in Chicago itself.

PULLING GUNMEN in from another city is SOP (Standard Operating Procedure). They are hired by "cutouts" men who can't be identified with the original client. But it was the misfortune of these guns-for-hire that the FBI crowded them. Not only did the bureau's own intelligence network learn that there were three hoods involved—but the federales identified them, names, addresses, sheets (records), et al.

The FBI even learned the price for the hit on Kilpatrick, the 55-year-old president of the United Industrial Workers of America and head of its Local 300. The foray's tab was $4,000 to eliminate the courageous Chicagoan. Kilpatrick had been attempting to keep his own units out of the crime syndicate's hands.

He was also using his organizations as an operating base to drive hoods from control of independent units in 12 Chicago area factories.

All this the FBI obtained in a written confession from one of the trigger trio. He "copped a plea"—meaning he said he was willing to testify against the others. I understand his share of the tab was to be $1,000.

A second muscle man was to get another grand (thousand) and the gunman himself was priced in at $2,000. In spite of three rehearsals, the gunman messed himself up a bit during the actual execution. There was blood on his clothes.

THIS WAS embarrassing even in impolite society. So the trigger man went to the home of a friend in the suburbs. There he and his host cut up the bloodied clothes so minutely that they could flush them down the kitchen drain. So say those who have seen an FBI report on the probe.

The bureau moved in its technicians. They not only got into the drain, they went into the sewer. Soon the FBI men had sufficient evidence to pin their man.

J. Edgar Hoover's people then turned their findings over to the Chicago police, because there had been no federal violation.

The FBI's absorption with the businesslike professional slaying of Jack Kilpatrick had sprung from his cooperation with a federal grand jury. Now, grim and tragic though it was—this taking of a man's life by men for hire—the "hit" was nonetheless a local crime.

TECHNICALLY, that is. By the standards of our truck-sized loop-hole law, that is.

There ought to be a law, it seems to me, without having consulted J. Edgar Hoover. It should give the FBI jurisdiction over violence against all such crusades of all the Kilpatricks of the land.

True, his was a small union. But an injury to one is an injury to all. In his field Kilpatrick had been fighting against one Angelo Inciso, from whose controlled set-up of independent unions Kilpatrick had split off his own group.

Inciso has been convicted of taking $420,000 in illegal insurance payments from employers. This money was to cover the welfare and health of his members.

Instead, in a court of law, Inciso was convicted of stealing their security. Inciso is out on appeal, living well. Kilpatrick who fought this is dead.

If that's not the federal government's jurisdiction, then it is time it was. There ought to be a law. The Hall Syndicate

Double Standards

By DAVID LAWRENCE

JFK, Industries Due For Controversy

The Kennedy administration is in for a serious controversy with the principal industries of the country — the automotive and other manufacturers engaged in foreign trade.

Many of the companies which have been the strongest supporters of the reciprocal trade program and recently have been enthusiastically advocating the low tariff program proposed by the administration in connection with the European Common Market now are having second thoughts.

They see difficulty in going along with the free trade program because, they say, the administration is sponsoring a protectionist doctrine when it tries to penalize American overseas investments.

Most significant is a speech delivered a few days ago by Henry Ford II which is typical of the way other auto manufacturers and heads of large businesses feel about the administration's course. A total investment of $32 billion by American companies around the world is bound to be affected by the President's determination to choke off further American investment in many countries.

MR. FORD, in his New York speech, said:

"Some people seem to think you can be liberal on tariff policy and protectionist in other matters. I mention this because there has been some evidence that a new protectionism is rearing its ugly head along the New Frontier."

"This new protectionism would artificially restrict a direct the outflow of dollars by discouraging private investment abroad."

"The new protectionist says that foreign investment, particularly in industrially mature areas, means 'exporting jobs'—a phrase borrowed from protectionist union circles."

"Such talk gives comfort only to the enemies of liberal trade. It will be hard, I fear, to rally eager support for a program that appears to be half protectionist, half free."

"Any effort to liberalize trade presents dilemmas to the government, as well as to industries facing important competition. We now have, for example, areas of chronic unemployment, some of them in industrial areas affected by imports. We have rising wage costs at home and competition from increasingly efficient producers abroad."

"Further confusing the issue is the recurrent balance-of-payments problem that now and then threatens a run on our gold reserve and a possible monetary crisis."

"In such circumstances it is natural to seek a villain, on whom to blame all the country's troubles. A politically tempting target is offered by American investments abroad. They have been rather broadly pictured to the public as 'tax havens'—a term that properly applies only to a small percentage of such private investments."

"Blocking off capital investment—particularly in Europe—might temporarily ease the payments problem, but in the long run, it would make it worse."

"I am certain that restricting the free flow of productive capital investment is bad economic policy, directly opposed to our deepest national interests. This is not the way to solve recurrent balance-of-payments or chronic unemployment problems."

"I particularly question a recent legislative proposal to tax foreign income at the source. Such a move would immediately put many American investments abroad at a serious competitive disadvantage vis-a-vis other foreign investors."

"It would establish a revolutionary tax principle of unpredictable consequences. It involves a far-ranging change in law to achieve a short-term result."

"In short, it is a tortuous means of achieving a bad end. It is bad economics because, among other reasons, it ignores the fact that, historically, America's export surpluses have been greatest where our investment is greatest and that America's annual income from investment has regularly exceeded its outflow."

"To give one example, since the start of 1950 Ford Motor Co.'s transactions alone have brought a net plus contribution to the United States balance of payments of about $2 billion."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY must have known about this speech or at least his economic advisers should have told him about it. But the President ignored the argument altogether and came forth with a tax proposal in his message to Congress on Monday of this week which would damage American businesses abroad and perhaps increase unemployment in this country, where many of the parts are made for American plants abroad.

Europeans are jubilant because the Kennedy administration would thus weaken their American competitors abroad. It is a dramatic example of important proposals for legislation which are not thoroughly studied in advance by the administration.

It furnishes another illustration of why uncertainty and apprehension have spread through American industry concerning the economic outlook despite the rosy statements issued from the White House about "recovery" from recession.

New York Herald-Tribune

And No Tailgate

By TRUMAN TWILL

We could hardly wait when the dog show came to town to see how far off the beam we had been when people asked us about our new dog.

We'd had no illusions about her. She is a hybrid. Her mother was one of those solid German Rottweilers — huge dogs that range between 90 and 150 pounds.

Her father was a Collie. The mating was not accidental. It was planned, like letting the daughter marry the boy from the other side of the tracks because it made sense, even if it created certain social problems.

But, when people saw our pup, or inquired about her, they wanted to know the breed. She looks like a Rottweiler, then again she doesn't. What she resembles most is a black half-ton truck with an ivory grille on the front and no tail gate behind.

Because it's bad manners to discuss such things in the hearing of an impressionable child nothing was said about that Collie. It was easier to mention in passing that her mother was a Rottweiler reputed to weigh upward of 150 pounds, like commenting that a child's mother once had been a runner-up in the Miss America contest.

You get the idea?

We were snobs, that's what we were. We left her father out of it because he obviously was not the major element in the match.

So when the dog show materialized the project was to see how far off the beam we were when we called the pup a Rottweiler.

It all depends on how you look at her. From the rear she is a Rottweiler. From the side, she is a Rottweiler. From the top and bottom she checks out Rottweiler, point by point. But from the front she is too good looking to be a Rottweiler. She inherited color on her cheeks that doesn't belong on the cheeks of a Rottweiler.

Her hair is a little too curly for a Rottweiler, though that could be from growing up outside in a brisk winter.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is a sweet person but she's so easy going that our kids walk all over her.

The problem is this: "Nana" (they call her that) phones me every day and offers to sit with the children. I'm running out of excuses. The last time she sat, our 5-year-old stayed up til 2 a.m. to watch TV. He slept half the next day and missed Sunday school.

The 7-year-old drank a quart of rum punch, stuffed himself with sardines, olives, candy and popcorn and was sick for two days.

My husband says a woman who has "raised four of her own must be competent. I say most "Nanas" let grandchildren get away with things they'd never put up with in their own children.

You can see the spot I'm in. Please help.—HEMMED IN.

Dear Hemmed: Let your mother-in-law enjoy her grandchildren when you're around but don't give her the responsibility of sitting with them.

Her permissiveness undermines your good work and it confuses the children. Simply tell "Nana" that you want her as a guest. And stick to your guns.

Double Jeopardy

Dear Ann: This is the same old story. I never thought it could happen to me—but it did and I need help.

I'm married, have two children and a lovely home. I've been seeing a married man for three years. Jim and I are madly in love. My husband and Jim's wife have no idea and we can't bring ourselves to tell them.

You probably won't believe this but Jim and I never have gone beyond hand-holding and kissing. Please don't tell me to stop seeing him. He's all I live for. What is the future for us?—STAR GAZER.

Dear Gazer: First — You're right about my not believing the 3-year-hand-holding bit. I don't.

Second — my crystal ball is on the fritz but maybe I can give you a clue to the future — based on thousands of letters from men and women who have shared this problem.

You and Jim can slip around until someone catches you, then the roof will fall in on both your houses. Or you eventually could lose your sense of balance and agree to dump your respective families for each other. You'll discover that stolen love loss it's Zowie when it's made legal.

People who put their passions and selfish desires first — and run out on their responsibilities — rarely find the happiness they seek.

Mop-Top Betsy

Dear Ann: My 17-year-old Betsy always has worn her hair short. It was not only neat but distinctive. She's a large girl and short-cropped hair was perfect for her.

Recently she let her hair grow long. Now she wears it frizzed out like a feather duster. I hate her hair this way but she ignores my wishes. I've half decided to order her to cut it. My husband says I shouldn't. Where do you stand?—M.X.

Dear M. X.: With your husband. There are times when a mother must insist on certain things but a hair style isn't important enough to trigger a battle.

The more you attack the hair-do the more she'll have to defend it. You've already given it more attention than it deserves. Keep quiet.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamp and self-addressed envelope.

Astronaut Follows 'D-Minus 3' Routine

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Relaxed and with a fresh crewcut, astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. today followed his "D-minus 3" routine with all signs pointing to an attempt to orbit him around the earth on Saturday.

The schedule three days before flight usually calls for rest, relaxation, sun and exercise, sleep and reading and a few technical meetings. There is also a change in diet, to begin eating foods creating little body waste.

Within about 24 hours, experts had located and repaired a leak in the oxygen flow system in Glenn's capsule, putting in a new valve and ducting. This fault had forced a postponement in his flight, once set for today.

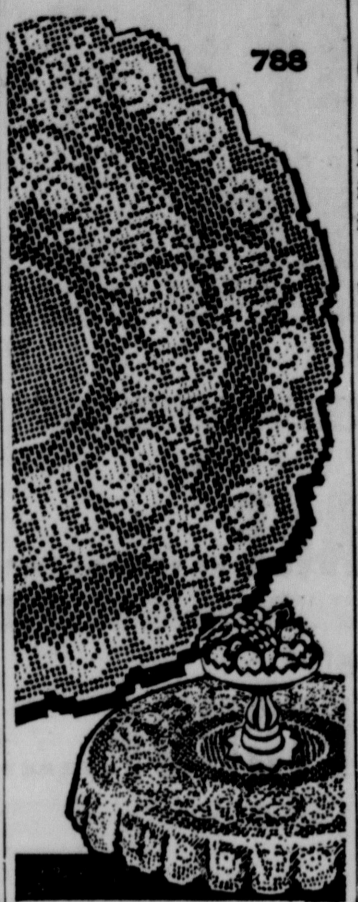

Glenn personally checked out the life-supporting systems in the capsule Tuesday. His back-up pilot, M. Scott Carpenter, flew a pretended three-orbit, 4½-hour mission in space.

Everything now looks satisfactory, officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration indicated, with preparations going forward for a launching attempt "no earlier than Saturday."

Weather or other unexpected problems could force more delay. While Carpenter was "flying" the spacecraft, Glenn scooted out of seclusion at the space base to Cocoa Beach for a $150 haircut — reading a magazine rather than engage in small talk with his barber.

He also reviewed results of a thorough physical examination with Dr. William K. Douglas, the astronauts' personal physician. Physically, Glenn is set to go, said the doctor. Glenn, a bug on exercise for fitness, went jogging later in the afternoon.

Beaver Local PTA Meeting Is Held

ELKTON — The P.T.A. of Beaver Local Public School met Monday evening with Clayton Aughinbaugh, president, in charge.

Mrs. Adolf Brant gave a report on the Scholarship Committee and it was voted to keep the name of the applicant secret. The group decided to give the amount of $250 for the 1962 Scholarship.

The ways and means committee reported that $185 was made at the rummage sale.

Roy Cashdollar, school principal and Dr. George Van Horne discussed plans for a community meeting to be sponsored by the P.T.A. for the four districts of the school system, to be held twice a year. The group approved of this.

things as trash collections or picking up discarded Christmas trees.

Since the street department does provide both of these services here, Fred Koeneich (D at large), chairman of Council's finance committee, said that money for these items will be considered when the 1962 appropriation is drawn up in March.

Service Director James Feiler said a total of $2,650.76 was spent from the street maintenance and repair fund last year for services not directly related to taking care of the streets.

Feiler said the cost per home for these services came to less than 56 cents last year. He said that cost of labor for picking up discarded Christmas trees earlier this month amounted to $1,041.

Labor for the annual "clean up" week, when the city picks up trash set out in curb lawns by citizens, costs about $1,500, Feiler said. The cost will be up slightly if the service is provided this year due to the wage increase that went into effect on Jan. 1 for city employees.

Feiler pointed out that the raking of leaves off the streets is considered to be street maintenance so can be paid for out of the maintenance and repair fund.

In another item discussed at last night's special meeting of Council, Mayor Dean B. Cranmer reminded the legislators that the city owes Squires, Saunders and Dempsey, a Cleveland law firm $546.50 for legal services in connection with the municipal parking lots.

The fees have accumulated over the past two years, Mayor Cranmer said. A resolution will be drawn up to pay the law firm at the next regular meeting of Council Feb. 6.

Absent from last night's special meeting was Albert Lesch (D. 1st Ward) who is seriously ill at the Central Clinic with a heart ailment.

Communist party in leading the Red international movement.

Considerable interest also was aroused here in an editorial from the Chinese Communist newspaper Peoples Daily that made a bitter attack on President Kennedy's State of the Union message.

Among other things the editorial indicated that the Chinese Reds are building up a new anti-American campaign—at a time when Soviet Premier Khrushchev still is talking about peaceful co-existence with the Western powers.

Kennedy has put his stakes on a split of the Socialist camp," the editorial said. "He and his ilk gloated over the dark clouds that temporarily overcast the Socialist camp; they openly indicated that the prospects were more encouraging than previously to the Western world."

What intrigued the government experts was the admission that "dark clouds temporarily overcast the Socialist camp." Just how dark they are is something that even the best informed men in the U.S. government are unsure of.

But the tendency in official quarters here is to discourage any hope of any real weakening in the Communist bloc or any early gain for the rest of the world from the dispute.

The reason is that Moscow and Peiping are really arguing about the best way to try to bring the rest of the world under control.

ican, and Malcolm A. MacIntyre, president of Eastern, jointly announced that the aim of the merger was to provide a stronger system "which can survive today's financial crisis, meet its obligations to the public and cope with the technological demands of the future."

They estimated savings of $50 million a year could be effected by eliminating duplicating flights and other services and by better utilization of equipment and facilities.

Smith would be chairman and chief executive officer of the Eastern-American combine with McIntyre president and second in executive authority.

The merger terms provide that Eastern stockholders would receive for each Eastern share held 1.3 shares of American, plus warrants good for five years to purchase an additional one-third share of American at $28 a share.

American, now No. 2 in size behind United, basically is a transcontinental line but also serves points in the Midwest, border, middle Atlantic and New England states and into the Southwest as far as Dallas-Fort Worth.

Fourth-ranked Eastern's routes are concentrated mainly along the Eastern seaboard. It also flies northwest to Dallas-Fort Worth, to Miami, Fla., Bermuda, Puerto Rico and Mexico City.

The lines serve 30 cities in common.

that led mankind to war."

Malinovsky charged that secretary McNamara and other U.S. administration officials are whipping up war hysteria because they hope that corporations for which they once worked will make great profits.

He said Rockefeller has been "exploiting unscrupulously the peoples' fears" with a campaign for the construction of nuclear shelters.

"Tremendous sums are spent on this which are transferred from the pockets of taxpayers into the safes of monopolies engaged in this profitable business," Malinovsky said. "But every sober minded person realizes that shelters against atom and hydrogen bombs are nothing but a coffin, a grave prepared in advance."

Matter of Fact

During a lawless period in Sicily, landowners hired local toughs as overseers to keep order among the peasants. The thugs were all too effective. Soon they were tyrannizing not only the peasants, but their employers. They set their own wages, fixed crop prices and organized a secret society to consolidate their power. This marked the beginning of the dread Mafia.

Parking

these people are getting paid to know about this. Where are they?"

Zimmerman explained that the police and fire chiefs had verbally recommended some of the proposed parking bans in previous committee meetings.

Several sections of the proposed ordinance have been under discussion since December, 1960, when they were recommended by Zimmerman's traffic and safety committee to facilitate the flow of traffic to and from the Pershing-Penn municipal parking lot which was still in the planning stage at that time.

Since then, Council has added to the "no parking" list other streets where they claim dangerous conditions exist.

The parking ban ordinances were drawn up and introduced last October. However, since that time the legislators have delayed final action because of complaints received from numerous citizens, most of whom don't have garages or driveways in which to keep their cars. Other complaints have come from a few merchants who say the parking bans will hurt their businesses.

Alom says he hasn't been convinced that the hazardous conditions talked about actually exist in several instances covered in the proposed ordinances. He said a written statement from the safety director, police chief or fire chief could change his mind.

LAW ENFORCEMENT CRITICIZED

Zimmerman pointed out that the safety director, and the two chiefs are administrative personnel and are under the control of the mayor, not Council. "All we can do is give them the tools to work with," Zimmerman stated. "It's their job to enforce the law."

Several Councilmen re-stated their dissatisfaction with law enforcement in the city.

Charles Gibbs (R. 2nd Ward) queried, "If they don't enforce the no parking ordinances already on the books, what good is it going to do us to pass anymore?"

His question went unanswered.

PASSAGE IS FORESEEN

Indications are the proposed ordinance containing the parking bans on 14 streets will be passed. Most of the legislators have stated their sympathy for property owner who like to be able to park in the street in front of their homes. However, they are convinced that hazardous conditions do exist which could be alleviated by prohibiting parking on one side or, in some instances, both sides of the street.

Following are the streets on which parking would be prohibited if the ordinance is passed.

1. The east side of Sharp Ave. from W. State St. to W. Pershing St.

2. The south side of W. Pershing St. from S. Howard Ave. to S. Ellsworth Ave.

3. The south side of E. Pershing St. from S. Ellsworth Ave. to Water St., except at City Hall where 15-minute parking will be permitted from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

4. Both sides of E. 6th St. from Hawley Ave. to N. Union Ave., except on Sundays when parking will be permitted in front of the Christian Church. No parking will be permitted on the curves at anytime.

5. The north side of E. 6th St. from N. Lincoln Ave. to Hawley Ave.

6. The west side of Superior Ave. from E. 7th St. to N. Lincoln Ave.

7. The west side of Newgarden Ave. from the railroad tracks of the city limits.

8. The north side of E. 3rd St. from N. Ellsworth Ave. to N. Lincoln Ave.

9. The south side of E. 3rd St. from Vine Ave. to Brooklyn Ave.

10. The west side of Hawley Ave. from E. State St. north to first alley.

11. The west side of Hawley Ave. from E. 3rd St. north to East 6th St.

12. The north side of Franklin St. from S. Lincoln Ave. to Ohio Ave.

13. The west side of Penn St. from E. Pershing St. to Columbia St.

14. The east side of S. Ellsworth Ave. from Wilson St. to State St. and make two lanes of traffic going north from Wilson St.

Driver Cited After Crash Near Millport

Corra M. Treffinger, 56, of RD 1, Kensington, was cited by the State Highway Patrol for failing to yield the right of way following a two-car accident near the intersection of Rts. 644 and 518 at Millport Tuesday at 2:45 p.m.

The Patrol said she pulled out from a county road into the path of a car driven by Dale Detherage, 35, of Alliance. Both vehicles received moderate damage.

PERMIT TRANSFERS SOUGHT

The State Liquor Control Department today announced a list of permit transfer applications now being processed, including:

John E. and Katherine Hendron, 441 S. Ellsworth Ave., to Louis A. Mattevi of Hendron's Tavern, D-1, D-2, D-3 and C-2 permits.

Louis A. Mattevi, Lape Hotel, 112 E. State St., to John E. and Katherine Hendron, Lape Hotel D-5 permit.

The application for the transfers was filed Jan. 16.

TRAFFIC HEARING HELD

A hearing was held in Mayor Dean B. Cranmer's court this morning for John M. DeRienzo, 53, of 1263 Carole Dr. who was charged with failure to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle after his car and a fire department jeep collided at the intersection of E. Pershing St. and S. Lundy Ave. Jan. 4.

DeRienzo pleaded "not guilty" to the charge at an earlier hearing.

Mayor Cranmer said he would announce a verdict later this week.

Driver In Fatal Crash Faces Charges

LISBON — Charges of speeding and driving left of center will be filed in County Court here against Wayne Hillyer, 32, of Hanover, driver of the car which ran through the Midway restaurant-tavern in Hanover Jan. 13, killing Carl McIntosh, 43, of East Rochester and injured his wife, Margaret, 32, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hohider, owners of the tavern.

Hillyer's auto was traveling east on Route 30, when it crossed over the center line and shot across the Farmers bank building sidewalk and then smashed through the side of the tavern.

Hillyer, also injured in the accident, has been released from Youngstown South Side Hospital and is confined to his home with a broken jaw and other injuries.

The traffic fatality is also expected to be brought before the grand jury, according to Assistant County Prosecutor Joseph Barozzi.

Red Cross Plans First Aid Course

The standard first aid course will be offered each Thursday for six weeks from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., beginning Feb. 8.

Although there is no registration fee for either course, McArthur asked that those intending to join the classes should sign up by Monday or Tuesday or notify the Red Cross office by Monday.

Franklin Local P.T.A. met at the school in Summitville with the President Forrest Thompson in charge. It was agreed to award the Spelling contest winners the same as last year.

A film on highway accidents "Signal 30" was shown by State Highway Patrolman Young from the Elison barracks. The next meeting will be Feb. 16.

Deputy Marshal Forrest Young cited three drivers to appear before Mayor Ernest Phillips.

Robert E. Thompson, 35, of Steubenville forfeited a $30 bond for reckless operation when he failed to appear.

Paul Royal Sheehan, 34, of Alliance forfeited $15 bond for speeding.

Edgar J. Pim, 50, of Alliance was fined $10 and cost on a speeding charge.

Latin Allies

a result of the conference's action, and Cuban delegates scoffed at the idea of the Havana regime being shelved in the OAS.

"We just do not care about that trash," said a member of Castro's delegation.

Any action taken by the conference unanimously is certain to be hailed publicly as a signal victory for the anti-Communist cause. The argument was heard that even holding such a meeting on Cuban subversion would have been politically too risky six months ago, before the Alliance for Progress program was adopted and before Castro publicly embraced Marxism-Leninism.

Privately many observers wonder whether the United States will emerge with a result which could prove worse than nothing.

Cuba already has been excluded from the OAS Defense Committee and deliberations of any other sensitive OAS body. U.S. sources say the proposed quarantine will not exclude the Castro regime from such humanitarian activities as hemispheric health and sanitation consultations. Therefore, while on the record Cuba may be eliminated from OAS bodies, actually nothing will happen which was not the case before.

Observers speculate that the whole business could boomerang by giving the Castro regime excuse to heap ridicule on the OAS as now constituted and to point out that the Inter-American alliance has been powerless to take any action with teeth in it against the Communist government of Havana.

The conference continued to produce public violence at various Latin-American points.

Sixty-five miles from this Atlantic beach resort and its diplomatic visitors, thousands of pro-Castro demonstrators marched through the main street of Montevideo shouting "Cuba si! Yankees no!"

The demonstration apparently was linked to a meeting of Latin-American leftist leaders set to open in the Uruguayan capital today.

In Venezuela, a country that has broken with Cuba, the toll from two days of clashes in Caracas climbed to 13 dead and more than 30 wounded.

An authoritative source said Defense Minister Gen. Jose Antonio Briceno Linares had called on marine and parachute units to reinforce troops and police who fought pitched battles with snipers and machine gunners in Caracas Tuesday.

Army patrols were ordered out to Caracas after a bomb blew out a section of the front wall of the U.S. Embassy Monday.

More bombs exploded in scattered sections of Caracas and eight buses were reported burned. More than 200 persons were believed under arrest.

The clashes accompanied a nationwide railway strike called in defiance of President Romulo Betancourt's anti-Castro government.

In Maracaibo, Venezuela, American evangelist Billy Graham was hustled out the back door of the state legislative hall after a crowd shouting "Yankee non! Castro si!" pounded on the front door during a speech he was making to the assembly. Graham later preached to a crowd of 4,000 at a baseball park without interference.

Glenn To Go 'Capsule Class' On Trip Through Outer Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—When astronaut John Herschel Glenn Jr. takes his trip through the dark of space he will travel capsule class.

It's an expensive way to travel, though the quarters are cramped. His new space ship, built by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis, cost $5 million.

Glenn is scheduled to make the trip around the world strapped to a special rubber-padded fibreglass couch especially contoured to fit his 165-pound frame.

On his journey the native of New Concord, Ohio, will scarcely have elbow room since his bell-shaped sky cabin is only six feet in diameter across its base and stands nine feet high.

At lift-off the whole thing will weigh 4,200 pounds. As it travels along it will jettison equipment no longer needed and when it is once more upon the earth, it will weigh 2,400 pounds.

Lt. Col. Glenn of the Marine Corps is going to be a busy man. His capsule is jammed with 164 instruments, lights and switches. He will have to keep a sharp eye on all of them, even with the aid of mirrors strapped to his wrists.

All these gadgets can be operated from the ground or manually by Glenn.

There is a 165th switch which only Glenn can operate. Until he closes that particular switch, the Atlas booster destined to lift him skyward cannot be lit. This is known to the astronauts as the "chicken switch."

Glenn will be launched into orbit with the small end of the capsule pointed forward. Once in orbit, Glenn will swing his capsule through a 180-degree arc, using 18 small jets loaded with high pressure hydrogen peroxide.

He will also swing his capsule around from time to time, while passing across the night-shaded part of the earth to take a look at the stars. The time for each of the three planned orbits of the globe will be about 90 minutes.

In brief, Glenn will spend most of his trip looking toward where he has been instead of where he is going.

Glenn will be able to see the earth and stars through a "picture window" measuring 11 inches across the base and seven inches across the top. It is 19 inches high.

He will also have a periscope with which he can sweep the horizon in a 360-degree arc and a picture will appear on his screen before his face.

Should something go wrong on the flight, a red light will appear on the instrument panel directly to his front and a buzzer will insistently claim his attention.

There are some 20 things Glenn can do to save his life at various points along his route. These life-saving devices can be activated from six of 18 ground tracking stations.

Once into orbit, Glenn is pretty safe, though his life support system must work perfectly. The capsule has two which can provide enough oxygen for 28 hours.

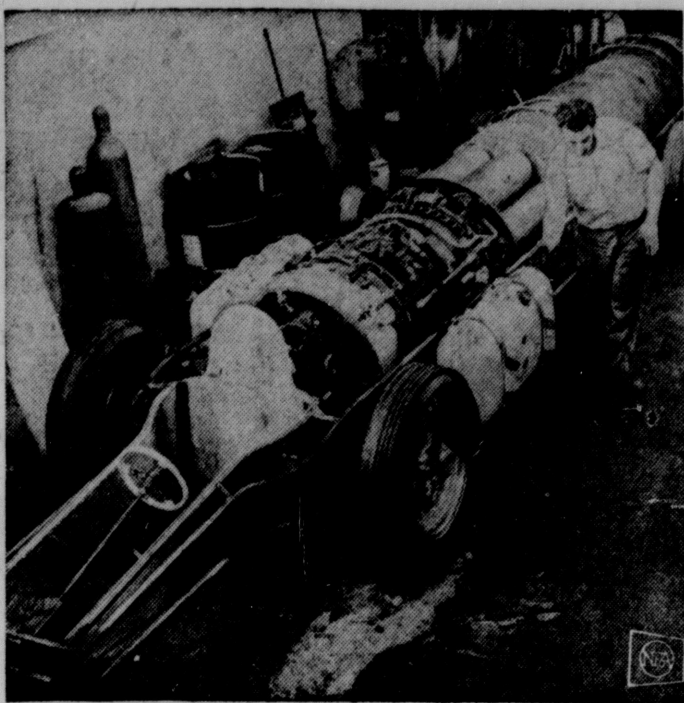

When the time comes to land, Glenn will fire a package of braking rockets attached to the blunt end of the capsule. His speed will drop from 17,500 miles per hour to 250 miles per hour in less than five minutes.

After the braking rockets fire, they, too, are jettisoned. At 21,000 feet a small parachute is deployed to slow the space craft even more.

At 10,000 feet, the 63-foot diameter main chute opens automatically (there are two in case one rips). If it doesn't work automatically Glenn can pop it out with a hand switch.

Upon touchdown a small radio begins sending out a signal for the recovery ships to home upon. There is a small auxiliary unit in the cabin which Glenn can use in event the automatic device fails.

If the capsule should spring a leak from the landing impact, Glenn can escape into the sea through a hatch in the neck of the craft.

10,000 HORSES PUSH THIS — Romeo Palamides is preparing his unique jet engine car in Oakland, Calif., for an assault on the world speed record at the Bonneville salt flats next August. A 10,000-horsepower engine is strapped to the four-wheel sled. Palamides expects the racer to attain a speed of 700 m.p.h.

JUST FOR YOU

The theme for the current hairdos is mobility. The newer coiffures hug the sides of the head, move forward or back according to facial contours and flare upward. Deep cheek waves and a more sculptured silhouette also are part of the forecast for an elegant look. The new basic styles should be adapted to individual profiles and personalities. Healthy hair is the easiest to manage and comb into variations of the basic style.

What a difference a new hairstyle will make for you. It will boost your morale and improve your appearance. You have an appointment with beauty.

Feller, Robinson Inducted Into Baseball Hall of Fame

The News Sports

Former Tribe, Dodger Stars Retired In 1957

BOSTON (AP) — Jackie Robinson, first Negro to play in the major leagues, today is the first of his race ever elected to baseball's highest honor—its Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

The graying former Brooklyn Dodgers infielder was enshrined Tuesday along with Bob Feller, the quiet farm boy from Iowa who blazed a fast ball through the American League for nearly 20 years.

Both won election to the hall the first time they were eligible, a five-year retirement from base-were tapped in the first election, in 1936.

Candidates needed 75 per cent of the 160 votes cast. Feller, now an insurance executive in Cleveland, got 124 votes, four more than the minimum needed.

"It's a once in a lifetime thrill," said Robinson at his Stamford, Conn., home. "It's hard to describe my feelings fully at this time. I am pleased and honored. My family is so excited no one wants to eat."

Feller Thrilled
Feller, typically, was less emotional but nevertheless just as thrilled.

"Naturally, I'm happy about it," he said. "But now it's almost as if I had nothing to look forward to—except going to Cooperstown this summer. I thought I might have to wait longer. Joe DiMaggio had to go around a couple of times. But then maybe the competition was rougher than."

Robinson broke baseball's color line in 1947. Branch Rickey, then general manager of the Dodgers, had startled the baseball world the year before when he signed Jackie to a Brooklyn farm contract. Robinson, who had been an outstanding football player for UCLA, was with the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American League at the time. He spent one year of seasoning at Montreal, leading the International League in batting and fielding and then joined Brooklyn as a second baseman.

Quiet, hard working and always both an offensive and defensive threat, Robinson flirted with the 300 mark his first two seasons and batted a lustrous .342 in 1949 to lead the National League.

His fielding and baserunning always were joys to behold. In one season he committed only seven errors, still the major league record, he participated in 137 double plays that same season, 1951, setting a National League mark.

Feared Baserunner
Jackie was the most feared baserunner around in the decade from the late '40s to the late '50s. Once he stole home in a World Series game.

"I think it was recognition purely on merit," Rickey said of his protégé's selection to the Hall of Fame. "It is well deserved."

"I think it also means a lot to our whole country. We are in serious disrepute in some of our international relations, and I think this will help a lot. All of our people should be very happy."

Feller was a 17-year-old farm boy who had sharpened his eye by throwing at a bullseye painted on a barn when he arrived in the majors in 1936. He was what the game needed—a blazing fastball pitcher who packed in the crowds.

Twenty years later—with four years out for Navy service during World War II in his pitching prime—Rapid Robert Feller had compiled 266 victories.

Among those wins were three no-hitters, a dozen one-hitters. Only two other pitchers had three no-hit games. No other ever tossed 12 one-hit jobs.

As exciting as Feller's low-hit games were, his strikeouts were even more dramatic. He struck out 2,581 batters, including 15 in his first major league starting job.

"Feller must be ranked among the top five pitchers I ever faced," says American League President Joe Cronin. "Everybody talked about his fast ball but he had a tremendous curve."

Six times Feller won 20 or more games. His high came in 19 when he notched 27 triumphs. He set the modern mark of 18 strikeouts in a nine-inning game against Detroit, Oct. 2, 1938, though Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers since has tied the record. Feller's 348 strikeouts in 1946 still stands as a major league mark.

The two baseball greats were the first elected to the Hall of Fame by the writers in their biennial polls since 1956 when Cronin and Hank Greenberg were chosen. Billy Hamilton and Max Carey were elected last year by a special "Old Timers" committee.

Wellsville Game Tickets On Sale

Cope reported that adult reserved seats will sell for one dollar, while students may purchase reserved seat tickets from him for 35 cents.

A bus will be scheduled to take fans, both adults and students, to the game if enough reservations can be obtained. The bus will leave from in front of the Junior High School at 6 p.m. A price of one dollar will be charged for the round trip. Thirty-five reservations must be secured before the bus will be chartered, Cope added.

Robinson's 1st Negro In Hall Of Fame

By JOE REICHLER and JACK CLARY

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first Negro elected to baseball's Hall of Fame, said today he is happiest because of the "effect it might have on humble people like myself."

"I am hoping it will make them realize," continued Robinson, 42, now graying vice president of a national restaurant and coffee packing concern, "that people can come from humble beginnings and with luck and perseverance can move ahead."

Robinson was elected to the shrine Tuesday along with Bob Feller. Like Feller, the former Brooklyn Dodgers' infielder made it the first time he was eligible for the ballot.

Robinson has a luxurious home on the outskirts of Stamford and commutes to his job in New York.

"No one had more humble beginnings than I did," he reminisced in his richly appointed living room while his wife, Rachel, sat by his side. "Why, at one time I was practically a juvenile delinquent. I didn't know where my next meal was coming from."

"And now to end up like this. You have to thank God for having a mother like I have who taught me right from wrong and for guiding me to my wife."

Jackie said that as soon as his wife told him of his election when he arrived home from New York, he telephoned his mother in Pasadena, Calif., and Branch Rickey, who brought him up to the Dodgers and thus broke the color line in the major leagues.

"I felt they deserved this great honor along with my wife as much as I," he said. "I didn't want either of them to find out from anyone else before I told them."

Greenford Whips Mathews 72-60 For 7th Win In Row

Greenford High School's vastly-improved varsity basketball team continued to roll on with ease as it blasted Mathews 72-60 on the winner's court Tuesday night.

Coach Jerry Sues' Bobcats now have a seven-game winning streak going after dropping four of five tilts early in the season. They are also undefeated in Inter-County League play with a 2-0 mark.

Four Bobcat starters hit in double figures in paving the way to victory. Bob Cook, a 6-3 center, featured with 18 points, while teammates Rich Arnold garnered 14, and Ken Paulin and Dave Tyo with 13 markers each.

Tom and Tim Scott (no relationship) led the Mathews' attack with 25 and 12 points respectively. Greenford pulled to a slight 20-18 lead after one quarter, but then began to roll by sending the margin to 42-34 at halftime and 60-50 heading into the final stanza.

The Greenford Reserves made it a perfect night with a 38-32 win over the Mathews Jayvees in the preliminary contest.

Coach Sues' varsity squad will tangle with tough Inter-County League foe Mineral Ridge in its next game Saturday night at Mineral Ridge. In an earlier meeting of the two quintets at Greenford, the Ramblers won out 54-51. The hosts, under the coaching of Tom Cera, are presently 2-1 in the league and 12-1 for the season.

Mid-Year Exams Slow Cage Card

St. John's Dumps Canisius; Ohio U. Downs Muskingum

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
St. John's University, consistently one of the nation's leading independent major college basketball powers, once again seems destined for a postseason tournament bid.

The New York Redmen polished off touring Canisius of Buffalo 81-68 Tuesday night for their fifth straight victory and 11th in 14 games. LeRoy Ellis, St. John's 6-10 center, produced most of the scoring punch with 31 points, 21 in the first half. The swift senior also snared 15 rebounds.

The Redmen have appeared in 15 National Invitation tournaments and three times have been selected for at-large berths in the NCAA championships.

With most of the schools taking midyear examinations, action was again sparse in college basketball circles Tuesday night. In games involving major teams, Wisconsin outlasted North Dakota State by 102-50, Auburn throttled Georgia Tech 52-40, Virginia Tech subdued Tennessee 83-73, Chicago Loyola rolled over New Orleans Loyola 96-73, Georgia humbled Georgia Southern 70-58, Ohio University whipped Muskingum 83-68, Akron nipped Kent State 71-70, and Tennessee Tech turned back Middle Tennessee 61-58.

Ellis' 31-point scoring output for St. John's, his season's high, gave him a career total of 1,009, and he became the seventh Redman player to reach the 1,000-point mark.

Wisconsin of the Big Ten ended a two-week layoff in boosting its record to 9-3 at the expense of nonleague foe North Dakota State. Ron Jackson, who will be ineligible in the second half of the season, was high for the Badgers, who led at the half 51-27.

Auburn's shuffle offense clicked in the second half against Georgia Tech, and the Tigers recorded their ninth victory in 14 outings, a game that does not count in the SEC standings. Auburn overcame a 25-23 halftime disadvantage, while limiting the cold-shooting Yellow Jackets to only 15 points after the intermission. Layton Johns of Auburn garnered scoring honors with 15 points.

Virginia Tech switched successfully from a zone to a man-to-man defense for the third straight game, and the maneuver again worked against Tennessee. The victory was the Gobblers' 29th in a row at home and lifted their record to 9-4. Lee Melear provided VPI's scoring impetus with 22 points, and Howie Pardue contributed 21 as the Gobblers led at halftime 41-32. Orb Bowling led the Vols with 18.

Chicago Loyola coasted to an easy victory over host New Orleans Loyola, racing to a commanding 61-31 bulge at the half. Jerry Harkness set the scoring tempo for the Chicagoans with 29 points, and sophomores Les Hunter and Vic Roosevelt chipped in with 24 points apiece. The Ramblers' record is 11-2.

Coaching Kids Is Fun, Says Bob Feller

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Bob Feller, named to the baseball Hall of Fame at 43, says he gets more fun out of coaching sandlot youngsters than he ever did in his playing days with the Cleveland Indians.

"It's wonderful," Feller said Tuesday after learning he had been elected to the Hall of Fame along with Negro star Jackie Robinson.

"The kids listen to me and I try to help as much as I can. And I stay in some sort of shape by hitting fungos, pitching practice and running around a little."

Feller came off a Van Meter, Iowa, farm in 1936 at the age of 17 and pitched his way to baseball greatness with a crackling fast ball and sharp curve.

"I thought I might have to wait longer," said Feller when told he had made the Hall of Fame on his first try.

Feller singled out his father and Cy Slapnicka as forming important influences on his career. It was his dad who taught him baseball on the Iowa farm and it was Slapnicka who signed him and brought him to Cleveland.

Feller said he may have reached the peak of his skills in a game in Philadelphia in 1947. He had struck out nine of the first 10 batters when he slipped off the mound in the fourth inning and tore ligaments in his knee and shoulder. He left the game an inning or two later.

That marked the downgrade as a fastballer for Feller. "It was never quite as easy again," he said.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Saturday night I happened to be with a group of men in a private club when a hunter came in and pulled a grouse out of his coat. I was surprised to learn how few of the group knew what it was. Grouse hunters, or shall I say "advanced hunters," seem to be in an exclusive group that not only recognize one of the most sporting birds to hunt but know it to be tops as a table delicacy. This most elusive of all game birds takes off so fast that the hunter has no time to aim but simply point and pull.

There are a good many grouse in the southern hills of Columbiana County, but this is one bird that not only tests the marksman's skill but also his knowledge. You have to learn the locality, study the habitat and understand the weather conditions that have a lot to do with their feeding habits and the type of cover they seek according to the weather.

IF YOU HAPPEN to be a squirrel hunter no doubt you have flushed coveys of grouse during the squirrel season, while the brood is intact, and then return to the spot after the grouse season opens and wonder what happened to them. The bare limbs of deciduous trees, plus the tracking snows we have had recently helps the nimrod locate his hiding spot. Not only do you hear the roar of the "thunder bird" but you can get a fast look at him.

This is when "seasoning" in a hunter counts. You simply have no time to become startled; instead your instant reactions should be to touch off the gun safely, get into firing position, point, pull, and you have to be able to shoot quickly and accurately. Otherwise you can waste a box of shells and go home empty handed.

THIS TYPE of hunting has no appeal to the "meat hunter." There are other hunters that simply admit that grouse hunting is too fast for their reflexes, or they might simply state "I'm a lousy shot." In that case, keep trying.

Once you bag your first grouse the interest will increase, and once you graduate up to the grouse hunting class with a little experience and training, you become a "big boy" and a member of the exclusive class of hunters.

Open season on grouse began Oct. 16, 1961, and it does not end until Feb. 24. Look to the long season to pursue one of America's finest game birds. Much sport is there during the winter months.

Traded Players Put Life In NBL Clubs

By The Associated Press
A couple of players whose best efforts couldn't keep the Los Angeles Jets in the American Basketball League apparently are just what a couple of the surviving clubs needed.

Bill Spivey and Dan Swartz, assigned to the Hawaii Chiefs and New York Tapers after the Los Angeles club gave up for lack of attendance, made notably successful debuts with their new teams Tuesday night. Each led the way to his team's first victory of the second half of the ABL season. Swartz teamed up with another New York newcomer, Roger Taylor, and paced the Tapers to a 129-123 victory over the Pittsburgh Rens at Commack, N.Y. Swartz scored 31 points and Taylor, acquired from Cleveland for Bob Keller, dropped in 27 as the Tapers outscored the Rens in each of the first three quarters. Connie Hawkins, as usual, led the Rens with 41 points.

Spivey spurred the Chiefs in a strong finish that brought a 106-100 decision over Cleveland in Honolulu.

Hunt Valve Rolls To Sixth Straight Win In Slo-Break

Hunt Valve maintained its undefeated dominance over the other seven teams in the City Slo-Break Basketball League as it rolled by United Steelworkers 37-29 in one of three tilts played Tuesday night in the Memorial Building.

In other action Industrial Mining moved into a second place tie with idle Gordon Scott's at 4-1 with a resounding victory over Jack & Hinchies 58-21, and Dell's Bike Shop took a squeaker from Jack's Bar 47-44.

League leading Hunt's used a fourth quarter spurt of 14 points in chalking up its sixth in a row. The winners took a 3-6 first period lead, but the Steelworkers knotted the count at 16-all at intermission. Hunt's then took the lead again 23-22 after three quarters before pouring it on in the final stanza.

Norm Smith paced the winners with 15 markers, while Tom Bowker was high with nine tallies for the losers.

Gene Kitzmiller and Phil Wenner, each dumping in 22 points, were too much for Jack & Hinchies as Industrial Mining grabbed its fourth win in five contests. The victors took a 11-5 first quarter margin and then rolled on with a 26-11 halftime count and 46-18 after three periods.

Tonly Colian meshed 11 points to lead the losing quintet.

Dell's Bike Shop evened its record at 3-3 with the win over Jack's Bar in a see-saw battle. The losers broke out on top after one period 12-11, but Dell's gained the margin 23-22 at halftime and 34-33 heading into the final stanza. The winners pumped in 13 points to Jack's 11 in the last frame to tie the contest.

John Hirst featured for the winners with 19 counters, while teammate Jim Smith was also high with 14 tallies. Jerry Mountz of Jack's led both squads with 30 points.

Beaver Local Quintet Loses Eighth 55-44

Coach Tom McCall's Beaver Local basketball squad suffered its fifth straight defeat and eighth in 11 games in losing to Youngstown East 55-44 on the Beavers' hardwood Tuesday night.

Beaver Local spurted to a 16-10 lead in the first quarter, but the much-taller Youngstown quintet pulled the count to 26-all at halftime and continued to roll to a 42-36 margin in the third period.

Gary Brown of East paced both clubs in scoring with seven field goals and four fouls for 18 points, with his teammate Mike Lolakis also hitting in double figures with 16 tallies. Seniors John Baker and Rich Aliulis led the Beavers' attack with 14 markers apiece.

The Youngstown East Reserves were also victorious in the preliminary contest with a 34-32 decision over the Beaver Local Jayvees.

Beaver Local will travel to Toronto Friday night for its next tilt.

Bobby Greene Leads Akron To 71-70 Win Over Kent

By The Associated Press

The smaller-school Ohio Conference managed a split with Mid-American Conference teams in the only two skirmishes on Tuesday night's Ohio college basketball card.

Ohio University had too many guns for Muskingum. The Bobcats won 83-68 at Athens. But Akron picked on Mid-Am tailender Kent State for an exciting 71-70 decision at Kent.

Bobby Greene of Akron, capping a 25-point effort, sank two free throws with 43 seconds left to sink Kent. The lead changed hands four times in the last four minutes. Tyler Saunders scored 20 points for the Flashes as they fell for the 11th time in 13 games while the Zippers were lifting their record to 9-3.

All five Ohio U. starters scored in double figures, led by Dave Katz' 20, although Coach Jim Snyder substituted freely against Muskingum. The Bobcats led by only 41-34 at the half but soon pulled away. Jim Burson led the losers' pointmaking with 18.

Player Readies For Match In San Francisco

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — This was the week a year ago when South Africa's Gary Player started the surge that won him more money in 1961 than any other golfer collected.

Lightly regarded at the start of the 1961 San Francisco International Open, Player came from four strokes off the pace on a final day to shoot a six-under-par 65 for a 272 total winning the $9,000 first prize.

He shoots over the same Harding Park course starting Thursday in the $50,000 tournament. So far this year, he hasn't been pleased with his scores and didn't shoot well enough in the Bing Crosby event to reach the finals this week at Pebble Beach, Calif.

So he came here early for some practice, and Tuesday finished with a pair of birdies for a one-under-par 70.

"The course was playing very heavy after the rain and snow, but the weather conditions were beautiful," he commented. He added he was putting very nicely compared with his recent work on the greens.

After his San Francisco victory, Player went on to become the first non-U.S. golfer to win the Masters title, and his $64,540.65 was the highest seasonal winnings for any golfer last year.

Today he will play in the pro-amateur preliminary as the pros get in their final pretournament work.

A field of 149 pros and 10 amateurs are set to compete in the 72-hole tournament over Harding, a municipal course measuring 6,672 yards.

Reds Manager Sees 4-Team Race In '62

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Cincinnati Manager Fred Hutchinson says his Reds will be the team to beat in the National League this year. But he predicts Milwaukee, San Francisco and Los Angeles will be in the thick of the race.

Hutchinson, whose Reds won their first National League pennant in 20 years last season, thinks the Chicago Cubs will emerge as a league power within three or four years.

"We feel that we have improved our ball club during the winter with the addition of three pitchers (Dave Hillman, Dave Sisler and Moe Drabowsky) and feel that we have added a real good defensive outfielder in Marty Keough," he said.

Hutchinson scoffed at critics who called the Reds lucky for capturing the flag. "... You don't get 154 games and win the championship accidentally. We had to be the best team in the league."

He spoke at a press-radio-TV conference.

Lucas Hailed Great by Mikan

Former Star Says Jerry Will Turn Pro

NEW YORK (AP)—George Mikan, a former great himself, hailed Ohio State's Jerry Lucas as one of the outstanding basketball players of all time, and a cinch to turn professional.

Lucas, a two-time All-America and star of the champion Olympic team in 1960, has indicated in the past that he may enter business after he graduates in June and pass up pro ball.

The Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association, who already have two of the NBA's best in Oscar Robertson (Lucas' teammate on the Olympic squad) and Jack Twyman, are eager to pay Jerry a fortune to play with them.

"Will he turn pro?" said Mikan in repeating a question—"There's no question in my mind that he will. He's already gotten himself an agent in the guy that handles golfer Jack Nicklaus. If you're not going to play for money what do you need an agent for?"

Mikan, now 37, was picked as the greatest basketball player of the half century in an Associated Press poll in 1950. He first starred at DePaul and then with the Minneapolis Lakers. He quit playing in 1954 after hanging up many scoring records. Mikan, a lawyer in Minneapolis, was interviewed while in New York this week.

Prune Coffee Cakes For Sunday

How about a big delicious surprise for Sunday breakfast? Try this prune-filled coffee cake. The recipe makes two cakes. Bake them Saturday, heat one for Sunday breakfast. Freeze the second one for later breakfasts.

Prune-Filled Coffee Cake

(Makes 2 coffee cakes)

1 cake compressed or 1 package dry yeast, 1/4 cup lukewarm water, 1/2 cup milk, scalded, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, 1/4 cup dairy sour cream, 3 to 3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)

Soften yeast in lukewarm water (use warm water for dry yeast). Pour scalded milk over sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add sour cream; mix well. Stir in 1 cup flour and egg; add softened yeast and oats. Stir in enough more flour to make soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas; knead until satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in size, about 1 hour.

While dough is rising, mix together 1 1/2 cups pitted uncooked prunes, 1 cup water and 1/4 cup sugar. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally until thickened, about 25 minutes. Punch dough down; turn out on lightly floured board. Cover; let rest 10 minutes.

Roll out to form a rectangle 12x18 inches. Brush with melted butter; spread with prune filling. Roll up as for a jelly roll. Cut in half; place both on greased cookie sheet.

Make slashes 1-inch apart half way through dough. Brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Drizzle with confectioners' sugar frosting while still warm and serve. For a special breakfast, cool unfrosted coffee cake, then wrap in aluminum foil for the next morning.

To reheat, place on a cookie sheet in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 8 to 10 minutes, or until warmed. Remove foil and frost as above.

FREEZING: Wrap baked coffee cake (unfrosted) in aluminum foil and freeze. To use, place on cookie sheet and heat in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until defrosted and warmed. Remove foil and frost with confectioners' sugar frosting as above.

FCC Hearings Enter 2nd Day

President of CBS Testifies in Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard S. Salant, president of Columbia Broadcasting System news, said today informational programming for children is "one of the most perplexing and frustrating problems that we face."

Salant, first witness as the Federal Communication Commission's hearings on network programming entered their second day, said CBS has set aside a development fund in this area.

"We have three pilots under way to determine what we can do in the way of effective informational programming for children—one pilot on American history, one on literature, and one on the contemporary world of reality."

Salant was the last CBS witness before the FCC staff and members start asking questions on his and previous testimony.

He said news and information broadcasts on the CBS television network have been increased about 40 per cent over the last television season. These programs Salant said, would total about 690 hours "or about 17 per cent of the total network schedule."

CBS President Frank Stanton and James T. Aubrey Jr., president of the CBS television network, were witnesses Tuesday. The National Broadcasting Co. and American Broadcasting Co. will be heard in the next two weeks.

The FCC study is to determine the scope and character of network television operations, how much control the networks have over what American viewers see, and what kind of regulation is needed.

Chairman Newton Minow noted in his opening statement that while the FCC holds individual stations responsible for their programs, the character of these programs is determined primarily by the networks over which the commission has no control.

Stanton strongly opposed federal regulation, saying the way to better television programming is through competition from more stations and more networks.

Aubrey said networks help stations by providing them with a varied schedule of programs, plus revenues from those programs which are sponsored.

Down at the Old Country Store

I always do my buying from an independent merchant within our shopping area if I can get what I want. The other day I couldn't get what I wanted from a local independent so I had to go to a big outfit. You know they treated me real nice. I can see now why a local independent no matter what he sells must get on the ball and stay there.

LITTLE LIZ

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

'Athletic Heart' Is Medical Myth

I would like once again to draw your attention to that hardy medical myth, "the athletic heart." Like all fairy tales, it continues to be told and re-told from generation to generation.

Without seeking any further explanation, the "athletic heart" is blamed for any and every attack that occurs to a participant in a sports contest of any sort. And to any and every attack that occurs to what he may have been doing at the time of his difficulty.

What should be, but won't be, the last nail in the coffin of this medical myth has been furnished by Drs. Currens and White of the Massachusetts General Hospital. With the cooperation of Mrs. Clarence DeMar, these famous cardiologists examined the heart of Mr. DeMar, who was popularly known in the world of amateur athletics as "Mr. Marathon."

During the course of his life, DeMar, who had been told in his youth that he had a "weak heart," participated in 1,000 long distance races, including 100 marathons of 25 miles or more.

The first of DeMar's long distance runs of record took place in 1909 when he was 21. In that race, a cross-country event, he finished fourth and was awarded his letter at the University of Vermont where he ran as an undergraduate. The last of his races was a 15 kilometer "marathon" (about 10 miles) that he ran at the age of 69 at Bath, Me. And, in the intervening 48 years, he ran 34 marathons and, in seven of them, was winner.

In the last of these marathons, that he ran at the age of 66, he finished 78th in a field of 133 qualified runners.

Nor is that all. In addition to working as farm manager, proof-reader and teacher, he ran two evenings a week, took a degree in fine arts at Harvard in 1915 and his master's degree in education at Boston University in 1932.

And, in 1912, he represented us in the Olympic games but failed to finish due, in his opinion, to a vegetarian diet that was inflicted on him by the trainers and officials of the team.

Yet withal, including an operation for an intestinal cancer some two years before his death, his heart and its coronary vessels revealed no changes other than those that might have been found if he'd lived his 69 years commuting between bedroom and dining room. "Athletic heart" indeed!

Success Begins at Home

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Success begins at home," said Jeno F. Paulucci, who in 15 years built a borrowed $2,500 into a $40-million food empire.

"No matter how depressed the area you live in may seem, if you look around you can find idle resources you can develop. Growth is possible anywhere."

Jeno is the son of an immigrant Italian miner in Minnesota's hard-hit Mesabi iron range.

At 13 he earned $2.50 a week in a grocery store and remembers "sometimes I had to take my pay in spotted fruits and vegetables."

At 17 he became a wholesale grocery salesman, slept in his car at night, ate his own food samples to cut down expenses. At 27 he borrowed $2,500 to grow beansprouts. His office was a rented quonset hut, and the first year he took in $400,000. This year he expects to gross exactly 100 times that figure — or $40 million.

At 43, Jeno has become far more than America's beansprout king. As president of the Chun King Corp., headquartered in Duluth, Minn., he is the nation's largest manufacturer of American-Oriental foods.

He also packages Italian delicacies. He has a food empire that stretches from Minnesota to Florida. He has six plants, some trailer trucks. He raises or processes everything from mushrooms to blueberries, wild rice to celery — on more than 700,000 acres.

He even markets potting soil, sod and moss. He has just started a nationwide chain of Chinese drive-in restaurants.

One thing led to another for Paulucci, a slender, blue-eyed man with a passion for growth.

"Just as a farmer must plow something back into his soil, so must a businessman. He must create a service, or make something grow where nothing grew before," he says.

"There is a tremendous satisfaction in building a business against odds in a geographical area where other industries have failed."

"You turn handicap into an advantage — that's one of the great secrets. It unlocks your mind and makes you alert and creative. Handicaps strengthen your organization."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The grain trade is complaining that the Agriculture Department's feed grain program is threatening the health of the nation's country elevator system.

In a letter to Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy, the Grain and Feed Dealers National Association finds fault with the way the government is selling surplus corn and sorghum grain. Such sales are being made to raise money to pay farmers for reducing acreages of these two grains last year.

The letter says the department is expected to sell around 800 million bushels of corn during the current market year and that 80 per cent will be taken out of country elevators. The remainder will be taken from the government's own storage facilities.

It says the loss in storage business is causing hardship for many elevators.

WASHINGTON (AP) — World wheat production in 1961 is estimated at 7,755,000,000 bushels by the Foreign Agriculture Service. This is about 300 million less than in 1960.

This estimate is slightly less than a forecast made last fall mainly because estimates of the Soviet Union and mainland China have been reduced to reflect unfavorable growing conditions in parts of those countries.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicts that fully 2 million farms will cooperate with various phases of its water and soil conservation programs during the fiscal year ahead.

These programs are carried on by local soil conservation districts through the department's Soil Conservation Service. There are 2920 districts functioning now.

The department estimated that full conservation programs will have been developed for 1.5 million farms by mid-1963.
